How long will we keep your personal information?

We will keep your personal information for as long as you are a customer of Paragon Banking Group. After you stop being a customer, we may keep your data for up to 12 years for one of these reasons;

- to respond to any questions, complaints or claims
- to show that we treated you fairly
- to maintain records according to our regulatory and statutory obligations

We will keep your data for longer than this if we cannot delete it for legal, regulatory or technical reasons. We may also keep it for the following purposes:

- research
- fraud prevention
- money laundering
- capital and liquidity risk
- statistical analysis
- business forecasting purposes

When this happens, we will make sure that your privacy is protected and we will only use it for these purposes.

You or a third party may send information to us as a prospective customer. If we do not have any products that are suitable for you, or you decide not to proceed with your application for any reason, we will store the personal information provided to us for no longer than two years.

Fraud prevention agencies can hold your personal data for different periods of time, and if you are considered to pose a fraud or money laundering risk, your data can be held for up to 6 years. In some cases, Paragon may hold your data for an indefinite period.

Your information rights

You have various rights in terms of how and why your personal data is processed. Please contact us at any time if you wish to exercise these rights:

- You have the right to rectify and correct inaccurate or out of date information at no extra cost
- You may be able to request the deletion or removal of personal data where there is no compelling reason for its continued processing. You don't have an absolute 'right to be forgotten' but we will consider the request in specific circumstances
- You have the right to ask us not to use your information for marketing purposes and to ask us to stop sending you marketing communications
- You have the right to restrict and/or object to certain processing, providing it meets the requirements set out in law
- You have the right to obtain human intervention if contesting a decision based on any automated decision-making means. For example, before offering you a loan, we may carry out an automated credit search. CRA's provide us with data and analytics that may help us with this search and our own data, knowledge, processes and practices will also play a significant role in our decision to lend. If you contest the automated decision, we are able to carry out a manual review of your data. However, this may not change the outcome of the initial automated decision and this may still result in you being refused a product or service
- You have the right to move, copy or transfer personal data. If we are processing data to perform our obligations to you, or because you consented, if that processing is carried out by automated means, we will help you to move, copy or transfer your personal data to other IT systems. If you request, we will supply you with the relevant personal data in a format which is readily accessible by most IT systems

- You have a right to access the personal information that we hold about you. We won't charge you for this request, however, we may charge a reasonable fee if your request is largely unfounded or if you make repeated requests. Please make your request to the team that services your account. If you require a specific document please make this clear. Telephone calls will not be provided as standard as not all departments will record their calls. If you require a specific conversation, please provide as much detail as possible to enable us to locate this on your behalf

Transfer of your personal information overseas

There may be times when some or all of your personal information may be transferred to, stored or processed by third-party suppliers located in countries outside the UK.

In these circumstances we will take the necessary steps to ensure that the transfer of your data is in line with UK data protection requirements and that your information is treated securely and protected to a similar standard. We may need to transfer your information in this way to carry out our contract with you, to fulfil a legal obligation, to protect the public interest and/or for our legitimate interests.

We'll put in place the approved standard contractual clauses (as approved by the UK and European Commission) or any other appropriate safeguard which constitute appropriate measures to ensure that your personal data is treated by those third parties in a way that is consistent with, and which respects the European Union (EU) and UK laws on data protection.

If you are an Expatriate, due to the nature of the product you have chosen, a set of transfers of your personal information to countries outside of the UK may be required. Our lawful basis for these transfers is because they are necessary to implement precontractual measures and for the performance of a contract between you and Paragon.

Whenever fraud prevention agencies transfer your personal data outside of the European Economic Area (EEA), they impose contractual obligations on the recipients of that data to protect your personal data to the standard required in the EEA. They may also require the recipient to subscribe to 'international frameworks' intended to enable secure data sharing. For further information please contact the fraud prevention agencies listed within this notice.

If you chose not to give personal information

We may need to collect personal information by law, under the terms of a contract we have with you. If you chose not to give us this personal information it may delay, or prevent us from meeting our obligations. It may also mean that we cannot perform services needed to run your accounts. It could mean that we cancel a product or service that you have with us.

Complaints

If you wish to complain about how we have treated your personal data you can:

- contact the complaints team within your usual servicing department to discuss your concerns; and/or
- refer your concerns to the Information Commissioner's Officer (ICO), the body that regulates the handling of personal data in the UK. You can contact them by:
